Response to Arguments

1. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-38 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 1-6, 8-14, 16-17, 19-23, 25-26, 28-32, 34-35, 37-38 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Lo Vasco in view of WO 94/30023 (herein after WO '023).

Regarding to Lo Vasco et al teaches communication network, which includes remote unit, wireless network, message center, the method teaches techniques for registering the warranty of a wireless remote unit in communication network. The method includes transmitting registration information from wireless device to the server such as registering a warranty for wireless remote unit 20 using SMS messages, see col. 3, lines 46-47; verifying the registration information at the server such as central processing unit 24 transmits a registration message from wireless transmitter/receiver in order to register with wireless network and steps 206 central processing unit determines whether the user of remote unit 20 has responded positively, see col. 3, lines 54-59 and col. 4, lines 8-13. Furthermore, Lo Vasco teaches remote unit 20 which establishes a connection between remote unit and mailbox 42 located in message center 40 via wireless network based on the wireless origination message; placing a command from the mailbox to the wireless device, such as step 222, wireless transmitter/receiver transmits the SMS message to mailbox; delivering the command from the mailbox to the wireless device and executing the command at the wireless device such as warranty storage center server after warranty information is stored in mailbox, periodically access mailbox to download the recent warranty information to warranty database, see col. 4, lines 45-54.

LoVasco does not include to perform functions at the server without request from the wireless device. WO '023 teaches a mobile 6 for receiving the message transmits a confirmation of receipt back to its respective cell site 5, from then on until a update situation, the system will not contact this mobile 6 again on page 5, lines 2-5, and on page 10, lines 4-9, discloses the directory enquiries download enables contact telephone or fax numbers to be delivered to a subscriber's communications terminal without any intervention by the subscriber. Therefore, at the time of invention, it would have been obvious to one of the ordinary skill in the art to manage wireless device of LoVasco as taught in WO '023 for maintaining total compatibility with existing cellular system.

Regarding to claim 2, such as establishing a connection between the wireless devices and the server, transmitting a request to contents of mailbox from the wireless device to the serve, and transmitting the contents of the mailbox from the server to the wireless device, Lo Vasco et al teaches in steps 200 initial activation of wireless remote unit, step 202 for registration with wireless network, and steps 212-216 for retrieving warranty information, constructing SMS message and addressing SMS message to mailbox as in figure 2A.

Regarding claim 3, for establishing the connection periodically, Lo Vasco et al discloses warranty information storing in mailbox and warranty storage center server periodically accessing mailbox 42 to download the recent warranty information to warranty database, see col. 4, lines 51-54.

Regarding claim 5, La Vasco teaches as in step 220, remote unit 20 for establishing a connection between remote unit 20 and mailbox 42 located in message center 40 via wireless network 30 and step 222, wireless transmitter/receiver transmits the SMS message to mailbox, and step 224, message center server 46 retrieves the warranty information from the SMS message, see col. 4, lines 33-37.

Regarding claim 6, for establishing the connection periodically, Lo Vasco et al discloses warranty information storing in mailbox and warranty storage center server periodically accessing mailbox 42 to download the recent warranty information to warranty database, see col. 4, lines 51-54.

Regarding claim 8, La Vasco teaches the command for enabling/disabling access of the wireless device to the server such as step 206, for central processing unit 24 determines whether the user or remote unit 20 has responded positively, if not, than central processing unit 24 in step 210 regroups a user input on the user's next activation of remote unit 20, see col. 4, lines 8-15.

Art Unit: 2142

Regarding claims 9 and 10, delivering the command from the mailbox to the wireless device and executing the command at the wireless device to the server such as warranty storage center server after warranty information is stored in mailbox, periodically access mailbox to download the recent warranty information to warranty database, see col. 4, lines 45-54.

Regarding claims 12-14, 16-17, 19-23, 25-26, 28-32, 34-35, and 37-38 12-38, claims the similar subject matter for claiming steps for receiving information from the wireless device rather than transmitting information from wireless device to the server as in 1-6 and 8-11. Therefore, the claims are rejected for the similar reasoning as cited for claims 1-6, 8-11.

Allowable Subject Matter

4. Claims 7, 15, 18, 24, 27, 33, 36 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

5. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
